Make your purpose your profession!
Three easy steps to select the careers you will love
By:Jo Paulson

Too often adolescents lack the clarity of what their strengths and skills are and as a result waste a lot of time in their early postsecondary education. As a result this can sometimes lead to a lack of motivation and credit completion. This book will help anyone who is feeling confused about choosing a career. It will lead the reader to look within to identify their interest, personality traits, cognitive abilities, and skills, because every individual has a uniqeness to share with humanity. This book will guide you to discover, decide, and take action in a career choice that will truly align with your purpose and passion.
